UNDENIEABLE
- An option for students not ready to officially declare a major, while evaluating the many majors and careers available.

THE UNIVERSITY is responsible for guiding students to achieve their academic goals by:
- Providing appropriate advising support for all students
- Providing access to academic, personal, and career advising
- Communicating all requirements and expectations for graduation

MISSION STATEMENT
The Academic Advising & Exploration Center provides intrusive and developmental academic advising to assist Undeclared and First-Year students with their transition to college and their development of an educational plan consistent with their personal values, interests and abilities.

ADVISORS are responsible for providing guidance to students by:
- Providing accurate information on requirements and policies
- Helping students evaluate their academic success and choice of major and minor
- Supporting and encouraging students as they work to meet their goals

STUDENTS are responsible for developing their educational plans by:
- Monitoring their course of study
- Understanding and fulfilling all degree requirements
- Taking initiative to seek advising

The Academic Advising & Exploration Center provides advising for first-year students, with fewer than 24 units, and students who have yet to declare a major.

Students should contact their advisor for help with coursework selection, managing academic concerns, and career planning.
