The Grad Expo

The 2013 Grad Expo will be held on October 20 and 21, 2013 Hosted by Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana

The Big Ten+ Grad School Expo is your one-stop shop for information about graduate study in:

- Engineering
- Science
- Mathematics
- Technology
- Related Disciplines

At the graduate school fair, you'll have the opportunity to talk to faculty, graduate students, and staff from some of the nation's premier institutions. But, the Expo is more than just a grad fair. You will also have opportunities to:

- Participate in workshops
- Network with representatives from top-ranked universities
- Receive advice on funding your graduate education.

Attend the Grad School Expo and have the application fee waived when you apply for graduate admission to Purdue! You must submit your application after attending the Expo in order to take advantage of this offer. Instructions for receiving the application fee waiver will be e-mailed to all Grad Expo attendees after the event. Students who register for the Expo but do not attend are not eligible for the application fee waiver.

Graduate School Visitation Programs

Diversity in Graduate Studies Visitation Program

As part of the overall year-round visit program, the Diversity in Graduate Studies (DIGS) Visitation Program continues Rensselaer’s commitment to cultural enrichment and academic excellence through the recruitment of a diverse student body.

The DIGS program is intended for individuals who wish to explore Rensselaer prior to applying for admission to a graduate program. DIGS applicants should complete a Graduate Student Visit Form and send in the materials noted above. Funding assistance up to $300 may be available for individuals residing in or visiting the United States. Applicants to the visitation program will be contacted within five business days of receipt of the visit request form.

The DIGS program not only provides you with an opportunity to become familiar with our graduate programs. It also gives you a forum to let our faculty know about your interests, goals and accomplishments before you submit your formal application for graduate study.

Depending on availability, a DIGS visit may include:

- Meeting with a member of the graduate admissions team
- Meetings with professors of your choice, if available.
- Lunch with a current graduate student
- An opportunity to attend a seminar/class
- A campus tour
