Why Denim Day?

A symbolic gesture – an Italian court overturned a rape conviction due to the High Court not believing that the victim had not consented to sexual contact since, in their opinion, her jeans were so tight the perpetrator could not have gotten them off without her assistance.

Sounds outrageous, yet in Italy, and all over the world, women and men who are victims of sexual assault continue to be disbelieved and accused of causing the assault due to their behavior... or fashion sense. This has to stop.

In 2013, UW-Whitewater Police Services Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) came together to create a pamphlet that outlines what happens after an assault occurs, if it is or is not reported. In General, understanding the legal system and victim rights can be very difficult. Now, factor in something as powerful as a sensitive crime, such as an Assault and it can be a very emotional and confusing time for a person.

Victims often ask themselves: Was I assaulted? Did I give permission? Who can I talk to? Victims are sometimes unsure if a crime was committed, but know what happened to them didn’t feel right. Once a victim does report to Police about an assault, what happens? How does it get to the court system and how will it affect the victim?

UWWPS’s created a basic guideline to assist possible victims and educate people before they are victims on what occurs “after the assault.” Considerations could be, but not limited to preserving evidence, going to a SANE Nurse, reporting to police, enlisting family members for support and so on.

Local county resource numbers and information regarding Title IX are also included in this pamphlet.

These pamphlets are able to be accessed in Goodhue Hall at UWWPS’s front counter.
Community Service Program at First Lutheran

UWWPS BAIT BIKE

Bicycle numbers are increasing in visibility and that can only mean one thing, Spring is here! Unfortunately, it can also mean something else. A new target for criminals.

UWWPS Bait Bike program was put in place to catch those who choose to steal bicycles and to act as a deterrent for those who are thinking of stealing one.

Staff and students need to remember to get your bicycles registered and keep them secured with devices such as U-locks. Registering your bicycle is easily done by stopping at UWWPS located in Goodhue Hall.

U-locks can be purchased in many places such as UWW Bookstore and Walmart.
