INSTITUTION: UW-Whitewater
SCHOOL OR COLLEGE: College of Education
MAJOR: Communicative Disorders (B.A. or B.S. emphasis)
NOTE: This emphasis is intended for students who wish to become Speech Pathologists working in health care systems (hospitals, nursing homes, etc.).

1. APPLICATION PROCEDURE
An application is not required for admission to the major. Students admissible to the university may declare Communicative Disorders on the application for admission to the university.

2. NON-COURSE REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRANCE INTO EDUCATION PROGRAMS
None.

3. COURSE REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRANCE INTO COMMUNICATIVE DISORDERS
SPECIAL NOTE: it is strongly recommended that students who wish to major in Communicative Disorders transfer after the first year study at the UW College, since there are courses required for the program typically taken during sophomore year.

4. COURSES REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION NOT IN UW COLLEGES' CURRICULUM
None
However students should include the following as part of their freshman year curriculum:
- ENG 101 and 102 Composition I and II
- COM 103 Public Speaking
- MAT 105 or 110 Introduction to College Algebra/College Algebra
- Any biological science (PHS 170, PHS 202, PHS 230 recommended but not required)
- Any physical science (select from courses in AST, CHE, GLG, Physical Geography or PHY)
- Note: at least one of the above sciences must be a laboratory science.
- PSY 210 Psychological Statistics or MAT 117 Introduction to Statistics
- Social Sciences (e.g. PSY 201/202 or SOC 101)
- Ethnic Studies (see Student Services advisor)

5. SPECIAL NOTES
- Students should complete Speech (COM 103) at the UW College campus.
- To be certified as a Speech/Language Pathologist, the student must complete an approved Masters program in Speech Pathology. Completion of the Bachelors program at UW Whitewater does not guarantee admission to the Masters program.
