Strategic Priorities
February 2009

To attain a richer intellectual climate and more transformative experiences for students, we will focus our time and financial resources on the following nine strategic priorities:

1. A great building that meets our needs and is the heart of college activity.
2. Increase interdepartmental and interdisciplinary activities.
3. Build faculty commitment through recognition and rewards.
4. Increase awareness of value of L&S degree for students and the public.
5. Engage with and provide service to the campus and community.
6. Increase coherence and integration of General Education/Liberal Education.
7. Prepare our students to be global citizens.
8. Support quality teaching-learning innovation.
9. Increase recruitment, support, and retention of students from underserved groups.
