For the Student to Complete

1. An Honors Option Project in a 100/200 level course is required to meet at least one of the following objectives. However, if your project met more than one, please check all that apply.

   - approaching the material from an innovative or unconventional thematic perspective (innovative and unconventional are defined here within the context of the course, that is, an approach that is different from the thematic perspective offered in the course)
   - promoting learning outside the formal classroom setting (e.g., service projects, interviews, cultural events, field work, volunteer work, etc.), and thereby fostering civic knowledge and engagement
   - emphasizing written, oral, visual, or tactile communication skills as well as (if relevant to the discipline) digital technology literacy and/or data analysis/mathematical literacy
   - encouraging creative expression and achievement
   - applying theories and principles learned in class to "real-life" problems and situations
   - fostering teamwork and collaboration toward problem-solving
   - developing intercultural knowledge and competence
   - demonstrating ethical reasoning and action
   - exploring connections among various fields of study
   - providing opportunities for independent research, including the use of primary and secondary sources

2. In addition to the Honors Option Project itself, you are required to complete a 500-word minimum typed self-reflection and submit it to your instructor. The purpose of this self-reflection is to encourage students to become aware of themselves as learners. The self-reflection piece (along with the H-Option Project) will be graded by the instructor as Satisfactory/Not Satisfactory. Components to include: 1. How would you describe your project (100 words or fewer)? 2. What steps did you take to complete the project? 3. What did you learn from this experience? 4. If you could re-do the project, what would you do differently? 5. If applicable, how does the project connect to your major and/or your career path?

3. Submit this form and your self-reflection to the University Honors Program by the Monday of Week 15. For further information, please consult the Timeline for Completing an H-Option Project (attached to hard copy of H-Option Forms and available at www.uww.edu/honors).

4. To help other Honors students and faculty get ideas for H-Option projects, would you be willing (if requested) to share a summary of your H-Option project (taken from your self-reflection piece) in an online posting or with other students and/or faculty in a face-to-face setting?

   ___ Yes, post my summary to the Honors website.
   ___ Yes, I will share in a face-to-face setting.
   ___ No, I decline either option.
Student Certification

By signing this form, I certify that I have completed and submitted my H-Option Project and self-reflection piece, and that I have met the professor’s attendance and other course requirements. I further acknowledge that I will be ineligible to receive Honors Credit for this course if my final course grade is lower than a B.
