Maintaining Legal J-2 Status

1. Dependents of J-1 Visitors include spouse and children and they can request a J-2 visa to accompany the exchange visitor.

2. The J-2 dependent’s status is directly dependent upon the J-1 Visitor’s status. The J-2 dependent is allowed to remain in the U.S. as long as the J-1 Visitor is maintaining legal status.

3. The J-2 Visitor is required by the U.S. State Department to maintain health insurance coverage. Refer to Maintaining Legal J-1 Status for details of health insurance requirements.

4. If the J-2 dependent wishes to travel outside the U.S. and return they must have their DS-2019 endorsed by authorized personnel in the Office of International Education and Programs prior to their departure. The J-2 dependent has the same requirements and the J-1 Visitor. Plan ahead and allow at least 5 working days to obtain DS-2019 endorsement.

5. The J-2 dependent may engage in full-time study while in the U.S.

6. The J-2 dependent cannot engage in employment without first obtaining authorization from the USCIS. To apply for employment permission the dependent must submit the following documentation to the USCIS regional office in Nebraska:
   a. A letter requesting permission for employment. In this letter the dependent must verify that the money earned will not be used to support the J-1 Visitor but rather to augment the cultural exchange of the dependent(s) while in the U.S. Included in this letter should be the family’s itemized expenses and monthly income.
   b. A copy of I-94.
   c. A check for $120 payable to the USCIS along with completed Form I-765.
   e. Copies of support documents demonstrating financial certification referenced in letter to request permission for employment.
   f. Two passport-size photographs as described in Form I-765.

Note:
Refer to “Immigration Resources” for Form I-765 and address for USCIS. Employment authorization by USCIS will be concluded by the issuance of an Employment Authorization Document for the J-2 dependent.
