

NEW at ORSP! Research Training by CITI

The Office of Research and Sponsored Programs has implemented new research certification training modules for staff, students and administrators involved in Animal, Human and Responsible Conduct of research at UW-Whitewater.

Certification training will now be completed through modules and testing provided by the Collaborative Institutional Training Institute (CITI) at the University of Miami. CITI was established in 2000 and is currently used by academic, government and commercial organizations worldwide to train researchers.

In addition to providing instruction required for federal research compliance, and immediate notification of certification status, CITI provides quick access to your training certifications and will send you a notification when renewal with a refresher course is required. You may also purchase Continuing Education credits for many of the courses they offer.
