

Enrollment Deposit

New UW-Whitewater undergraduate students are required to pay a one-time $100 enrollment deposit. This deposit remains on account during your enrollment at the university. The deposit is never applied to your fees, rather it rolls forward to the next term as a deposit for that term. It is refundable upon request when you separate from UW-Whitewater. Unclaimed deposits fund scholarships for new students in future years.

The enrollment deposit must be paid before you can enroll in classes at UW-Whitewater. If you are scheduled to attend an orientation session, this deposit must be received before that session to enable you to participate in the registration process.
