About the Camp

The UW-Whitewater Flute Camp provides flutists in grades 8–12* (fall of 2008) with an opportunity to grow musically and to hear and learn new repertoire. (*graduating seniors are also encouraged to apply). The daily schedule challenges the student at his or her own personal level. In addition to two daily lessons, flute quartet and warm-up sessions, campers may enroll in two or more of the class offerings. On the last two days of camp week, private flute lessons are joined by professional accompanists.
