

Mid-Semester Assessment Program

"Love the realistic group projects!"

"Need more frequent, smaller assignments so I can get more feedback—I'm not sure how I'm doing!"

"The discussions during class help me understand the concepts!"

"Too much reading ☹ "

What do your students think of your course? Would you like to find out during the semester—when there's still time to make some changes?

The Mid-Semester Assessment Program (MAP) offers feedback from students while the course is still in progress. MAP is a great way to "take the temperature" of your class and find out what your students think helps, as well as gets in the way of, their learning. You'll gain useful information to strengthen the course and students appreciate your interest in their perspectives.

- Useful for face-to-face, hybrid, and online courses.
- Feedback summarized and discussed with the instructor by experienced instructors—in time to make changes for the current semester. No need to wait until the next time you teach the course!
- Voluntary and confidential. Requests may only be generated by the instructor, and feedback is given only to the instructor.
- Deadline to apply is October 21, 2016.

For more information, go to [<http://www.uww.edu/learn/mid-semester-assessment>]. Space is limited, so don't delay!