

Online Instruction Best Practices:

HOW TO ENGAGE THE NET GENERATION USING INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNOLOGY

Date: Wednesday, April 29, 2009
Time: 12:00-1:00pm (lunch provided)
Location: University Center Room 259A
Register By: Wednesday, April 22, 2009

Net generation students are often bored in college and tend to tune out with the help of their laptop, cell phone, or iPod. So how can we re-engage students in learning?

Web 2.0 and 3D virtual environments are often touted as potential solutions. But which is best to use and why? How techno savvy do you need to be to use these technologies?

David Delgado and Karen Skibba from the Learning Technology Center will share strategies and showcase Second Life, blogs, wikis, YouTube, podcasting, and instant messaging.

Join us to learn how your colleagues are using these technologies to engage their students.

To reserve a place, please contact the LEARN Center:
262.472.5242 or learn@uww.edu

Signup online using your Net ID:
<<http://signup.uww.edu>>

The workshop is listed under "Learn Center"

