Steps to Follow After Receiving Your Financial Aid Award Letter

(For additional instructions on accessing your financial aid info online visit:

<http://www.uww.edu/financialaid/award/award09-10.html>)

Now That You Have Received Your Award Letter You Have TWO Options:

Option 1

- Complete and sign the Award Letter and return it to the Financial Aid Office within three weeks of the date mailed. (Award Letters returned without signatures will not be processed.)
- Accept or decline your financial aid by circling the aid that you are declining, if any.
- List any additional financial assistance that you are receiving (i.e., scholarships, veterans' benefits, employer tuition assistance, etc.)
- Verify that your enrollment detail is accurate and make any changes necessary.
- Authorize that information regarding your financial aid may be disclosed to your parents, legal guardians, and/or spouse, if desired.

Option 2

- Your financial aid can be accepted or declined by accessing your financial aid information through your WINS* account. (Must be completed within three weeks of the Award Letter date.)
- You can verify and make changes to your enrollment detail, list additional aid resources and complete the information disclosure authorization through your WINS account.
- Refer to “Accessing Your Financial Aid Information On WINS” on the Financial Aid website for instructions for Accepting/Declining Your Aid Online.

The Whitewater Information Network for Students (WINS) is UW-Whitewater's interactive web-based system that gives you access to most of your personal information and records. While in WINS you can register for classes, update your local address information and make tuition payments. You can view and print certain student records including your undergraduate advising report and an unofficial transcript. You are able to view your grades, your assigned academic advisor, your financial aid award, entrance test scores, and transfer credits if you have any.*
