ARP INSTRUCTIONS:
FACULTY

Center for Students with Disabilities
How Will Students Let Me Know About Their Accommodations?

• After students are approved for accommodations through CSD, every semester they will select which accommodations they want for each class and schedule a notification email to be sent out.

• The student’s DSC then gives the final okay on the student’s requested accommodations and has the system send out the notification email.

• Please review this email and let the student or their Disability Services Coordinator know if you have any questions.
Accommodation Notice

• As you will see in the example, the accommodations are listed as follows:
  • Group (Aides, Alternative Testing, Notetaking, etc.), with a brief description of the group
  • Specific accommodation (In Class Aide, Extra Time 1.50x, etc.), with a brief description of the accommodation

• There is also a space for Additional Notifications, where the Disability Services Coordinator will include any uncommon accommodations the student qualifies for (such as a blank piece of paper with which to block out questions/answers on a test, or a limited number of questions per page)
CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION—PLEASE DO NOT FORWARD

Fall 2016 - INTRAUNV 104.86 - NEW STUDENT SEMINAR (CRN: INTRAUNV10486)

Professor Amy Dimola,

This letter is verification that Trial Student Not Specified, is registered with the Center for Students with Disabilities. The student has been approved for specific accommodations based upon the recommendations of CSD staff, disability documentation, and an evaluation of the student’s needs. This information is confidential. Revisions may occur, pending additional information, changes in disability status, or periodic review; if new accommodations are identified as appropriate for your class, you will receive a new notification. If you, as the instructor, have other accommodations, methods, or techniques for better access to your course content, please speak with the student and contact the DSC (information below) to discuss. Services are effective until the end of the semester, unless otherwise indicated.

The accommodation(s) most appropriate as it relates to your class is/are the following:

1. Aides

   The student qualifies for in class aides and/or out of class aides to assist with work completion and classroom access.

   - In Class Aide
     Aides act as extra "eyes and hands" for a student in the course. Aides are not tutors or notetakers; aides may take "real time" notes of certain aspects of the course, but students utilizing aides who want thorough notes for each class should still utilize notetakers or notetaking technology.
Accommodation Notice – Faculty Notification Letter (continued)

*Note: Bunny ears are not actually an approved accommodation
What Is An Alternative Testing Contract And What Do I Need To Do About It?

• Students are now required to complete an Alternative Testing Contract before they are able to make Alternative Testing Requests.

• Students are supposed to meet with you to discuss the questions asked on the contract and complete it together (just as they were supposed to meet with you to talk about their VISA).

• After the Alternative Testing Contract has been completed, you will get an email asking you to approve or request modification. This email will be sent whether or not you are present when the student completes the contract.
But I’m Not On Campus/Can’t Meet With The Student?

- If they are unable to meet with you, they may complete the contract without you and a copy of the contract will be sent to you for review and approval; from this email, you will be able to approve the contract and or request to modify it.

- To help them complete the contract correctly, please offer them the information on the next page
What Should I Tell My Student?

• Is the class allowed to use anything on their tests/quizzes (notecards, books, etc.)? If so, are there any limitations on what those can look like (for example, only one side of a 3 x 5 notecard)

• If the student is unable to take their exam at the same time as the rest of the class, do you have a preference for them taking it before or after class? Please keep in mind that the student’s schedule will impact when they are able to take the test.

• Ask the student if they want to take their tests with you, rather than in CSD.
What Should I Tell My Student?

• Do you use the following test types, and if so, how long does the class have for each type:
  • Exams/tests
  • Quizzes
  • Final
  • Online tests

• Ask about having the student take their exams with you, or inform them that this is not an option (either due to it being completely online or you rarely being available)

Notetaking

- Notetakers will now sign up electronically and be matched with the student(s) receiving their notes through our system
- Those who have been notetakers before can sign up before classes start, so you may not need to make an announcement to the class asking for volunteers!
- If we do need you to make an announcement, you will receive an additional email from CSD with the details of the announcement
- You will also receive an email when a notetaker is paired with any students who need notes in your class
Notetaker Recruitment Announcement Email

To: [Email Address]

We are requesting your assistance to identify and recruit a qualified in-class notetaker who will supply a student registered with the Center for Students with Disabilities with an accurate set of class notes. Please do not announce the identity of the student(s) in class who will receive notes to ensure confidentiality. When the notetaker has been assigned, it is okay to share the student's name with the notetaker. We have provided you with the following in-class announcement to be read at the beginning of class:

"Students who are looking for an easy way to earn volunteer hours should listen carefully to the following announcement. The Center for Students with Disabilities is recruiting a notetaker for this class. For someone who already takes good notes, this job is like getting volunteer credit just to attend class! Students interested in the position should bring their notes to me for review."

When you have identified a potential notetaker, please direct them to the CSD website at http://www.uww.edu/csd. Instructions have been included below that can be forwarded by email.
