

50% OFF TICKETS
RESERVE BY SEPT. 7, 2018

April, 2018

Dear Valued Educator,

Each year, the UW-Whitewater Department of Theatre/Dance offers performances for your students. In order to help you attend more for less, we are offering you 50% off the ticket price if reserved by September 7, 2018. The ticket price includes admission to the show and a talk-back session following the performance.

2018-2019 OFFERINGS

(additional dates may be available)

- Ghosts by Henrik Ibsen
10:00 a.m., Tuesday, December 4, 2018 (space is limited)
The ghosts of 19th century morality are revealed for their hypocrisy as Helene Alving struggles to rise above her family's struggles with religion, sex, disease, and assisted death. Be advised, this play contains adult subject matter.*
- Triumph of Love book by James Magruder, lyrics by Susan Birkenhead, music by Jeffrey Stock
10:00 a.m., Tuesday, February 26, 2019
Princess Leonide and Prince Agis travel a difficult path to love, filled with deception, disguise and confused relationships in an eternal hope for a triumph of love.
- Angel Street by Patrick Hamilton
10:00 a.m., Wednesday, May 1, 2019
This suspenseful drama uncovers Jack Manningham's subtle plot to drive his wife, Bella, insane. However, Inspector Roughy suspects foul play as he investigates a 15-year-old murder on Angel Street.

Take advantage of this special offer of 50% off and reserve today! We understand that it can be difficult to fund field trips each year. We have provided a list of grants that can be submitted for funding to supplement the cost of your field trip. A list of these grants is available at www.uww.edu/cac/theatre. There may be grants available through your local community foundations; we encourage you to take a look!

To register today, please visit: www.uww.edu/cac/theatre and click on the High School Matinee Registration Form. Once you have registered, we will send information on bus drop off and parking, study guides, and available teacher resources. For more information contact me at: (262) 472-1566 or andersom@uww.edu. We look forward to seeing you in the theatre.
