Middle Eastern Studies Minor

Requirements: 23 units of coursework as listed

The Middle Eastern Studies Minor incorporates humanities and social science to facilitate knowledge of human cultures, intellectual skills, social responsibility, and integrative learning. The area of the Middle East and Northern Africa has a strategic location as a crossroad of three continents, rich cultural heritage, home of three western religions, and a large supplier of natural gas and oil around the world which makes this area very relevant and a fascinating area to study.
