

HYBRID COURSE REDESIGN

Successful hybrid teaching requires a significant course transformation. Faculty must rethink and redesign their courses and create new learning activities appropriate for an online community of learners.

Most faculty also have to develop new teaching skills in order to successfully manage online interaction, incorporate new methods of assessment, and effectively use the interactive and organizational tools found in D2L, even though they may already be familiar with the platform.

The Winterim Hybrid Course Redesign workshop will be led by Dr. Alan Aycock, Associate Director of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Learning Technology Center and faculty in the UWM Anthropology Department.

The UW-Milwaukee hybrid faculty development model is nationally recognized and have received numerous awards and grants.

Dr. Aycock has led workshops on hybrid course design on more than 20 campuses across the nation.

DATES: Wednesday, January 16, 2008
& Thursday, January 17, 2008
TIME: 8:30 a.m.–4:00 p.m.
LOCATION: McGraw 127

REGISTER BY DECEMBER 10TH
AS SEATING IS LIMITED!

Please note that to ensure the success of the workshop, you should plan to attend both days. Continental breakfast, lunch, and afternoon refreshments will be provided for both days.

Priority will be given to those who will be teaching in the hybrid mode in Spring semester 2008.

SEATING IS LIMITED TO 20 PARTICIPANTS.

To register online, go to: <http://geturl.uww.edu/nl>
If you have any questions, please contact Lorna Wong:
wongl@uww.edu or 262-472-7795

For general requests, contact the LEARN Center: learn@uww.edu or 262-472-5242

