

Should We Be

RENEWING LIBERAL EDUCATION at UW-Whitewater?

.....

What would that mean? Why would we do it? How would we do it?

When would we do it? Who would do it?

Across the country a variety of colleges and universities are rededicating themselves to liberal education. As part of this initiative, the American Association of Colleges & Universities (AAC&U), under the title has identified some key learning outcomes and high impact educational practices that they believe can guide our work in this regard.

LEAP

(Liberal Education & America's Promise),

Should we at UW-Whitewater join this movement? Should we consider, revise, adopt, or utilize the identified goals and practices?

This workshop will seek to provide you with information regarding LEAP, the key learning outcomes, the high impact educational practices, as well as continue the discussion with various faculty and staff as we continue to consider how best to educate our students in the coming decades.
