

Summer 2023 Instructional Compensation

Faculty will be compensated at the rate of $1,800 per credit ($5,400 for a 3-credit course). Courses not meeting the minimum enrollment (15 undergraduates, 12 dual-level, 10 graduates) will be cancelled, or instructors may choose to teach the course at the self-supporting rate of $120 per undergraduate credit and/or $180 per graduate credit.

Internship courses are now paid on a new formula: 1-45 credits of undergraduate internship will be paid at $120/student/credit, with a plateau at $5400 for 46-75 credits, and then an additional $120 per credit above 75 student credit hours. At the graduate level, 1-30 credits of internship will be paid at $180/student/credit, with a plateau at $5400 for 31-45 credits, and then an additional $180 per credit above 45 student credit hours.

Summer Contracts will be issued through the Change of Status system in early March 2023 for the full amount with contract language stipulating the class size requirement. Timely approval of the Change of Status by the instructor, department chair, and college dean are necessary.

If faculty/staff think total summer salary may exceed 3/13th of their nine-month academic salary (4.5 biweekly pay amounts), they are encouraged to proactively seek approval from their department chair, college dean, and the dean of the School of Graduate Studies and Continuing Education (which administers summer session) in advance of exceeding this amount as per system policies (<https://www.uww.edu/policies/summer-session-compensation>). Nine-month faculty and staff are not able to exceed 3/9ths of the nine-month salary, no matter the funding source.