

University of Wisconsin – Whitewater
LIFE Program Application
2024-2025

Learning is for Everyone

The LIFE program at the University of Wisconsin – Whitewater has been designed to provide a complete college experience for young adults between the ages of 18-25 who have an intellectual disability. With ample supports, specialized instruction, on-campus residential living, and community integration, the program serves a critical need in our region and community. The program consists of two components, which includes a Basic Program (first 2 years) and an Advanced Program (second 2 years) that are designed to facilitate independent living and employment success for persons with significant cognitive limitations.

Program Highlights and Goals

- Provide an underserved segment of the population with comprehensive supports that are designed to prepare them for competitive employment and independent living to the greatest extent possible.
- Provide specialized instruction, with an emphasis on skills that students need in order to be successful in personal and professional endeavors following completion of the program.
- Provide extensive residential supports that have been designed to help students develop essential skills in non-academic domains.
- Expose students to an authentic college experience, which spans far beyond traditional academics.
- Integrate LIFE students with multiple facets of campus life, thereby providing many inclusive opportunities and meaningful networks of support.
- Dismantle barriers and create substantive opportunities for students with an intellectual disability.
- Prepare students to live a healthy and balanced lifestyle, including regular exercise and participation in enjoyable leisure activities.

Students who complete this program will receive a certificate of completion, rather than a degree from the University.
