Jenie Gao Claiming Space

Jenie Gao is an installation artist and printmaker. Her work has been on display in local, national and international venues. She writes, "My work seeks to challenge and expand upon stories and story structures. My hope for this installation is that it will challenge old story paradigms, while also offering affirmation that things can always change."

She will be speaking and working with students to dig deeper into the art and expand the reach of the messaging.
