VOCALISTS – Additional Instructions

Video recordings should clearly show the performer's face and most of their body from the knees upward, so the video should be filmed at eye level and from a bit of a distance. Pieces may be recorded separately.

- Singers are strongly encouraged to use pre-recorded accompaniment tracks ideally from a directors/teacher, but may also use YouTube, Smart Music, or Appcompanionist.
- If possible, it works best to play accompaniment tracks on a separate device (phone, Bluetooth speakers, etc.) – not the device used to record the video. The device playing the accompaniment track should be placed closer to the performer than to the recording device.
