

MAKING THE OLD NEW:

THE CHALLENGE OF TEACHING A COURSE 20, 40, OR MORE TIMES

- What particular challenges face us when we are teaching the same course or material for the 20th or 40th time?
- What is likely to go wrong when we have taught the same material many times? When good ideas become old ideas?
- How do we keep our teaching fresh when we have taught a class more times than we can remember?
- What have others done to punch new life into an old course?

A panel of faculty members from all four colleges will share their approaches to these and related questions. There will be ample opportunity for discussion.
