The Library Is Still All About Service

Since the UW-Whitewater Libraries have gone virtual this spring, it's time to give you a rundown of our services. We are still up and running and doing our part to meet your information needs.

Pick-Up Service for Books & Equipment

Both Andersen and Lenox have a pick-up service for books, media and equipment. The Library web site has a request form for ordering material to pick-up. Laptops are for students only, but books and media are for faculty and staff, too. You will select a pick-up location, date and time at the end of the request.

Resources for Distance Learning & Teaching

Our Resources For Distance Learning & Teaching guide outlines how we can help our users this Spring:

Contact Us for Help - Connect with a librarian by phone, email, live chat, or schedule an online meeting. The Reference Desk is staffed from 9:00am-4:30pm Monday-Friday so that you can reach us by phone.

Students - In addition to the pick up service and all the usual online resources, students can schedule meetings for research help.

Faculty & Staff - This page recaps all the great streaming video services available to you and your students.

Free Special Access to Materials - Library vendors have stepped up to the plate, providing additional access to scholarly journals and academic videos.

Database Trials

On the right side of our Databases A-Z list, you will see all the free trials vendors are offering this semester. These resources offer more than 200,000 ebooks, 68,000 streaming films, and thousands of additional academic journals.

Money Smart Week Event

Join Webinar Here: bit.ly/mswUWW2020

Complete this survey if you would like to have specific questions answered (or want to submit questions anonymously); or if you would like to receive a recording after the event.

Annotating Documents Online

How do you mark up documents if you can't print them and have to read everything online? Instructional Technology Librarian Diana Shull offers a Tech Tip for annotating documents online through Google Drive or Adobe Acrobat.

Chancellor Watson Blogs

Chancellor Dwight C. Watson's background in elementary education has given him a deep appreciation for children's literature.

The Chancellor shares this passion with readers in his posts on the Library Blog, which highlights some of his favorite children's books and graphic novels.
