Teaching/Learning Spaces

Reference & Instruction librarians are always available to provide library instruction for your students in the Library, in your classroom or online.

But you can also book Library spaces for Research Days or for your own Library sessions.

Librarian-led sessions have priority for our spaces, but if there are openings, especially late in the semester, we will allow faculty and instructors to book our three teaching spaces:

- ◆ The Library Instruction Lab has 31 student computers, 1 instructor station, and projection.
- ◆ The 1st Floor Classroom has an instructor station, 3 projectors/screens, 5 desktops and 15 laptops.
- ◆ The Children's Curriculum Collection Area has a SmartBoard and small tables for students.

Please contact your Librarian Liaison to book any of these spaces for your classes.

Money $mart for $tudents

Wish you were financially savvy back in your student days? Please encourage your students to take part in our events throughout the month to set themselves up for financial success:

- ☆ Money Smart Scavenger Hunt using Goosechase – learn something about money and be entered to win over $400 in great local prizes! Open the entire month of April.
- ☆ Preparing for Student Loan Repayment with a Financial Aid professional – Tuesday, April 12, 12:30-1:00 p.m., UC Room 262 or virtually <https://tinyurl.com/Stuloan2022>
- ☆ Sign up for a free, no-obligation, virtual Express Credit Checkup with a UW Credit Union financial professional

Libby App: Ebooks & Audiobooks

The UW System's OverDrive subscription is catching on. Popular ebooks and audiobooks are available via the Libby app on your mobile device. Adding your public library as well as the UW System to Libby will give you many more selections. Some of our hottest titles are The Song of Achilles, Atomic Habits, and This is Your Mind on Plants. Based on usage, audiobooks are the format of choice for our campus.

If you don't find what you want, you may recommend up to two titles every 30 days within OverDrive/Libby. See the Library's OverDrive Guide to get started.
