WE WANT TO HELP

UW-W Dining Services wants to help you!

- Our goal is to help you transition to campus living. In order to best accommodate your dining needs (regarding allergies and dietary restrictions), it is important to first reach out to our campus dietitian. The campus dietitian will provide guidance on navigating campus dining.

- To best accommodate your dietary needs, the campus dietitian may direct you to the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). Special accommodations may require medical documentation for your allergy or dietary restriction (peanuts, tree nuts, milk, wheat, soy, fish, shellfish, lactose intolerance, gluten, etc.).

- To get in touch with the campus dietitian, please see the UW-W Dining Services contact information on the back of this brochure.

BUILD RELATIONSHIPS

Build a relationship with the UW-W Dining Services Team!

- Our dining associates take pride in the meals they serve for our student customers and guests. As a student with food allergies, it is important to introduce yourself and speak directly with the dining services staff. Developing a relationship will help dining services provide you with the best information to make your decisions.

- Upon arrival to campus, arrange a time to meet the management team of the dining hall that you will be eating at. The sooner we understand your needs, the sooner we are able to provide accommodations and provide a safe environment filled with delicious food.

- For specific allergen questions we encourage all students to ask questions. We are here to help you enjoy your dining experience.

TAKE A TOUR

Take a tour of the Dining Halls and Campus Dining Locations!

- Make an appointment with the campus dietitian. This is the best way for us to learn about what steps to take to accommodate your needs.

- Concerns about gluten? Let us show you the designated area at Esker Dining Hall dedicated to serving those students with medically documented gluten allergies.

  - The campus dietitian will provide information about the products used and the steps we take to reduce the risk of cross-contamination.

  - Access is only allowed with your HawkCard upon approval from CSD.
